“ Aunt Mel was my mom's youngest sister. My mom aka Sister, her twin Marshall, aunt Jerry, uncle Johnny, & uncle E.J. were all very close for the most part of their life. The brothers were protectors of their sisters. Even though aunt Mel, mom and, aunt Jerry were soft spoken, sweet women; they were rebellious, tough and fought their own battles. This included their illness. Which for all of them came unexpectedly and rapid. But they pushed through this and every challenge with dignity, and respect. I'm the older of the nieces and saw first hand the resilience that helped aunt Mel and her siblings get through many trials & tribulations. Finally, as her niece we know Death all to well. Its resulted in the loss of all of our great grand, grand parents, parents, uncles and aunts. This includes our grand mother siblings. These debt of loss can make or break the remainder of the life you live. So show love and appreciation for your family while they are here. Be protectors when you can. Whatever imporant role you play in this life make it a memorable one. Thank you aunt Mel for leaving memories behind of the role you played as aunt, sister, daughter, mom, cousin, friend, wife and coworker. S.I.P. Your niece Angela Moss
