“ From Daisaku Ikeda: "The experience of losing a loved one impels us toward a deeper understanding of live. Everyone fears and is saddened by death. That is natural. But by struggling to overcome that pain and sadness that accompanies death, we become sharply aware of the dignity and preciousness of live and develop the compassion to share the sufferings of others as our own."

Bridiget will always be remembered as a good member of SGI-USA and a good person. She will be missed. Sending all my prayers and condolences to the family and for Bridiget.

“ Sherry,

Such a tragic way to loose a child, but God has you. Keep praying for strength that only God can give and know what happened was not to punish you, but to make you strong. We don't understand or know the whys and why now, but pray for your self and the other family who will not understand what happened and why either. Go to church and get help from others who are strong to lean on right now and don't think that drinking will help that will only put more sorrow into the equation.

Praying for you Sherry,
