“ David was once our neighbor, and then became our friend. We lost track of him over the past several years, but we will always remember him. He was a very friendly man.

“ I remember one day David and I were talking and he said that someone asked him how long had we known each other and he said that he told the person, “As long as I can remember...she was there.” We always had a good laugh together. He was proof that all family do not have to have the same bloodline. You will be missed fam. ❤️
